Introduction

In the current process of globalization, only young people who are disciplined, responsible, patient, pious, conscientious, faithful, tolerant, humanitarian, socially active and possessing such noble qualities will have all the comforts necessary for living. able to bring. The process of democratic development of social development depends on the extent to which the individual's self-awareness, respect for dignity, the ability to serve society and is also directly related to his actions. All this is related to the professional value of the person.

It is becoming important to connect young people with the life and goals of global societies that are undergoing transformation, to help young people find their place in social society. It is becoming a necessary task to link the education system with the political, economic, social, and spiritual changes of the society.

As Sh.M. Mirzyoev noted, "We consider it our primary task to improve the activities of all links of the education and training system based on the requirements of today's time" [4].

Professional value of future specialists - knowledge of how to behave, treat, react, fulfill psychological requirements and instructions, as well as demonstrate mobility, effectiveness, efficiency, enthusiasm in students in relation to the team, society, human life. , to fully acquire qualifications and skills, to be able to realize their goals in the field of pedagogy and psychology, to actively participate in the life of society through this, to be able to interrelate the factors of society's development and to contribute to its development is a show of enthusiasm [2; pp. 74-83].

The highlighted definition is the criteria that ensure the integration of students into the life of social society, that is, active living and socialization. In pedagogy, socialization is inextricably linked with the process of social formation, provision, manifestation and results of the student.

"Professional value" is a comprehensive concept, which means that students are active not only in the fields of education and science, but also in fields such as culture, art, politics, and law.

Also, the professional value is the students' demonstration of mobility, effectiveness, efficiency, enthusiasm in their relations with the community, society, and human life [3]. Therefore, "Professional value" in its essence represents the activity of people in the economic, political, spiritual, social and other spheres of society's life. Market relations and a new outlook have shown that spiritual-intellectual, social-political activity is the leading and decisive element in the structure of professional value of a person.

In order to clarify the essence of the concept of "professional value", it is necessary to pay attention to the content of the concept of "activity". In the "Explanatory Dictionary of the Uzbek Language" activity is defined as the intensity, enthusiasm, diligence, effectiveness in work or any movement, process [5].

Mental intelligence, mental and spiritual maturity, honesty, kindness, kindness - all these are the main qualities of enlightened and spiritual people. Forming these qualities in our youth is an important task today.

Therefore, the problem of ensuring the development of professional value in students becomes relevant for the following reasons:

The pedagogical role and importance of higher education institutions in developing the professional value of students is increasing day by day;

the pedagogical process becomes one of the most important and significant links in the development of the student's professional value;

Issues of developing professional value in future specialists in higher education institutions become one of the urgent pedagogical requirements of the modern era.

Professional value is formed in the social environment. Achieving this goal without a social environment is a difficult process. The development of professional value in future specialists is considered an integral part of student socialization [1].

Social activation of young people is understood as their conscious, independent participation in social processes, and when necessary, they strive to help change social relations without external pressure.

Responsibility is one of the important indicators that determine the maturity of a person in the process of socialization. Another direction of socialization related to the sense of responsibility is the goals and ideals formed in the individual. They enable a person to predict the future, envision the future, and make long-term plans.

A person without a goal and a plan is a pessimist without spirituality. This goal is always characterized by its awareness and dependence on the real capabilities of the individual. In a certain sense, the ideal also plays a role in their formation and establishment in the mind.

As a result of developing the professional value of students of pedagogy and psychology, they will be able to correctly analyze and manage various political, economic and social situations in the society, they will have skills for today and the future.

The integration of the student into the life of society is related to a number of needs, political, economic, social environment and requirements. Appropriate development of students' thinking in relation to the professional needs, problems, requirements and opportunities existing in society is the main task of developing the professional value of students of pedagogy and psychology in the educational institution.
