ABSTRACT

In this article, opinions are expressed about reforms aimed at bringing the field of public education to a new level. It was mentioned that changes are taking place in many areas of our society through information. The efforts made to develop the education sector of the new Uzbekistan will be the basis for the development of our country.

Introduction

The development of every country, the prosperous life of future generations directly depends on the populism of domestic and foreign policy and the implementation of socio-economic reforms in line with the times. Of course, in the systematic and continuous organization of these works, the goal, the chosen path, and the developed programs are of great importance. During the past period, large-scale reforms were carried out in our independent land in order to establish a democratic society, stabilize the economy, and improve the living conditions of the population, and many positive results worthy of recognition were achieved. Yesterday, under the leadership of the head of our state, Shavkat Mirziyoyev, a video selector meeting was held on the issues of determining the development strategy of Uzbekistan for 2022-2026 and its implementation. The Development Strategy, which consists of 7 priority areas, covers the tasks to be implemented in the fields of political-legal, socio-economic, scientific-educational and peace and stability in our country during the next 5 years. In addition, the program includes tasks that create a foundation for glorifying human dignity and serving the state for human dignity and benefit.

REFERENCES AND METHODOLOGY

Of course, ensuring human dignity, interests, rights and freedoms has become the highest goal in our country. "Taking into account the demands of our people, we developed the development strategy of New Uzbekistan and during the election process, we passed it through a unique national discussion. In this important conceptual document, in order to ensure the integrity and continuity of our reforms, the principle "From the strategy of actions to the strategy of development" was put on the agenda as the main idea and the main criterion," said the President. Of course, this development strategy includes goals related to the development of public education.

The head of our state signed another document aimed at bringing the field of public education to a new level. The President's decision "On additional measures for the development of public education" covers a number of important directions of the development of the field. In particular, starting from September 1, 2022, the practice of rating "model school" among district and city secondary schools will be established. At the end of each academic year, the state of spiritual and educational activities conducted in schools is evaluated. Based on the rating indicators, schools are divided into "Green", "Yellow" and "Red" categories. Necessary measures are taken to increase the effectiveness of spiritual and educational work in the schools included in the "Red" category. At this point, it should be said that practical cases have been brought with the decision. In the first place, the school environment is to improve the spiritual-educational and educational work in it. It is necessary to increase the role of not only the school, but also the parents, and strengthen the cooperation between the school and the parents. In addition, the practice of sending letters of gratitude to exemplary parents and rewarding them with gifts is introduced by the neighborhood chairpersons every quarter. Issues such as the allocation of funds for providing schools with modern computer classrooms are expected to be implemented.

In the process of globalization of education, fundamental changes are taking place in many areas of human activity through the influence of information. This shows its results not only in education, but also in science. All the changes taking place are large-scale and cover the deepest layers of society. From this In addition, let's consider a related example, there is an enterprise engaged in economic activity. Conducts personnel training in order not to lose competitiveness and improve its position. In part, it is carried out in a specialized training center, as well as with the help of an automated system (checks homework). Let's give another example, a gifted student is studying in a rural school, he is not satisfied with the quality of presentation of the material, if he organizes himself enough, he can get his education independently. There are tons of videos, tutorials, and even learning environments that literally put new knowledge into action. Anyone who wants to learn now has everything they need to do so. You have to literally reach out and take advantage of the opportunity. At the same time, the globalization of education without informatization seems to be a difficult, even impossible task. In addition, Uzbekistan chose the Finnish educational model and studied it for 6 months. The Finnish education system was introduced in Uzbekistan on the initiatives of the Honorable President Shavkat Miromonovich Mirziyoyev. Undoubtedly, through these efforts, every young generation will become mature in all aspects, and Finland will achieve the best results in terms of the quality of education. implied.

CONCLUSION

In short, modern science is definitely needed to build the foundations of the Third Renaissance. A wide range of opportunities are being created for our youth today and tomorrow. Based on world experience, drastic efforts are being made to rapidly develop each sector. Along with social, economic and political factors, the reforms implemented in the spiritual and educational spheres have a very important place in the development strategy of the new Uzbekistan. Undoubtedly, we, the youth, should make a worthy contribution to the development of Uzbekistan today. Only then will the future of Uzbekistan be bright.
